Here We Go

Well, for quite some time now we've been planning to take a survey trip to our mission field for fact finding, and now we are one big step: we bought the tickets! God willing, we will be leaving in Oct. while our kids stay with My brother and his wife in PA. This trip is paramount since we will be trail blazing this ministry with Tentmakers Bible Mission. While we are there, we will be getting answers to a large list of questions that we, TBM, and many of you have. Foremost on my mind is, "who will be willing to take us on as interns?" We have put much prayer into this, and God has answered this prayer with a contact which could lead to an internship. Please be praying with us.

When I think about this ministry that God is allowing us to be a part of, I get overwhelmed with excitement and speechless at the thought of Him giving us a part in what He is doing in the lives of the nationals.

After this trip, we will better know how to be prepared to move there and begin our work. The next several months that follow our trip, we will be support raising until it’s God’s time to send us there.

These Last Few Months

It has been five years since we moved out west to Wyoming, so when we moved back east this May, we made the circuit from Michigan down to Pennsylvania and North Carolina to visit family. Now, we are getting boxes unpacked from the move and helping my dad with some long-awaited (and much needed) projects around his house.

These last three Sundays, we have been reconnecting with Battle Creek Evangelical Friends Church. I grew up attending this church, but it has been more than ten years since I have gone there because I have been living out of the area. I saw many new faces and some familiar ones. There is one person I very much wanted to see, but a friend told me that she is now living in an assisted living facility. She was my Sunday school teacher when I was very little. God has placed it on my heart to visit her and thank her for her ministry and encourage her with our family's future ministry. I asked God to help me find a ministry while living here in Michigan, and I think visiting those who cannot make it to church might be it.

Anything that gets done that's worth being done will be by our prayers. You are an imperative part in this mission, thank you.

71 days until we leave for!
