Hebrews 12:1-3

"Therefore, since we have so great a cloud of witnesses surrounding us, let us also lay aside every encumbrance and the sin which so easily entangles us, and let us run with endurance the race that is set before us, fixing our eyes on Jesus, the author and perfecter of faith, who for the joy set before Him endured the cross, despising the shame, and has sat down at the right hand of the throne of God. For consider Him who has endured such hostility by sinners against Himself, so that you will not grow weary and lose heart".

I represented TBM at Frontier School of the Bible Spring Missions Conference this year. Three other single women missionaries were there as well. It was such a blessing to be with them and get to know them better. I was beyond blessed and encouraged by everyone who was there. It stirred my heart even more (if that is possible) to share about what the Lord is doing in Africa.

I had the wonderful opportunity to share the ministry in Centennial, WY with dear friends from FSB and the church they are pastoring. Ken and Ruth Stearns were a huge encouragement to me during my time at FSB and continue to be to this day. I am so blessed to have them and their church Centennial Valley Community Church as partners in this ministry.

Sandhills Church of Hope is proclaiming Christ in the Sandhills of Nebraska. Although I'm from NE, I have never spent time in the Sandhills. I enjoyed the close community and was honored to be able to share about what the Lord is doing in Africa with them. I was so encouraged by their hospitality and love for what the Lord is doing all over the world.

As I have been traveling and sharing I have seen the Bible come alive right in front of me. It's amazing to see God's Church, in all its diversity, come together and see the need in Africa.

I think of Paul and his missionary journeys and the people who joined with him in what the Lord was calling him to do. We see all over the Bible the Lord using people to help people carry out the mission the Lord has placed on their hearts. I think of Elijah and the widow the Lord sent him to. The Lord softened her heart to give, really out of nothing, and it was a blessing for the both of them. Then with Nehemiah and the Lord softening the Persian king's heart to help rebuild the walls around Jerusalem.

It gives me chills to think I am a part of something bigger than myself. That I'm apart of God's plan. He doesn't need me to go to Africa... but He wants me to. As I share about what He is calling me to do and the need in Africa, I'm humbled by the hearts that He softens to partner with me. I'm humbled and in awe that He would ask me to be a part of it all. And every time HE ADDS someone to partner with me in HIS ministry, I think of all who have gone before me and how the Lord provided for them with EXACTLY what they needed to be successful.

I had to stop at Carhenge in Alliance, Ne...
What do they say...the 8th wonder of the world LOL

We are getting closer...

I'm getting close to my goals of heading back to Africa and that is only possible because of all the people the Lord is using to make it happen, and those people are you and I am so very grateful!!

I'm just over 60% of my monthly support and 65% of my one time out going costs. The Lord is so good and faithful.

As I think about Hebrews 12:1-3 and fix my eyes on Jesus the one who makes all things possible, I'm so excited. This time of support-raising and team-building is unlike anything I have ever done, and I could not do it without the Lord paving a way for me. His faithfulness strengthens my faith and gives me faith that everything is coming together, and it will be just as it needs to be for His plan to work out.

Thank you for your prayers and encouragement, they mean the world to me. Thank you for running this race with me.

Because of His Grace

God Bless
