

Food for Thought

In his letter to the Colossians, the apostle Paul affirmed what Jesus demonstrated during His earthly ministry: Christ is supreme over all creation. In ancient Israel, firstborn sons wielded tremendous power and influence in the family. Likewise, Jesus, the firstborn of God, wielded tremendous power and influence over creation. He superseded biology in order to restore sight to the blind and heal the disabled. He overpowered nature in order to calm a raging storm.

He removed Himself from the inevitable cycle of life in order to conquer death. Nothing in creation is beyond the control of Jesus. Jesus sustains the universe - in both physical and spiritual ways. His power and might are certainly sufficient to hold creation together. Without His plan, the universe would have no direction. Without His light, darkness would reign supreme. Without His salvation, all would be lost. Without His hope, misery would be our fate.

Some of my favorite photos so far this year.

Upcoming in the next few months...

May

May is candidate school. We have several students who are considering becoming missionaries with Tentmakers Bible Mission, and our candidate school is a chance for them to meet board members, ask questions about church planting ministries, and get more info related to applying as a missionary.

Please be praying for those who are attending: the board members as they travel to LaGrange, and each of the students as they seek God's will for their future in ministry.

July

July brings Independence Day celebration!! Hurray! It's my favorite holiday to celebrate.

Tentmakers also has a team going to Trinidad to visit our missionaries there and help with ministry.

I will be helping those going by keeping track of donations that come in for each of the team members going. We have several Frontier School of the Bible students who plan on going, so please keep them in your prayers as they prepare for this short term trip.

It may seem like April is early, but there are a lot of details that go into all of our short term missions trip with TBM. We do our best to ensure the team has everything they need.

June

Hey Michigan Friends!!!

Guess who is coming for a visit! That's right - I am! This June I plan on visiting friends and supporters. I would love to see you if you have time and are available, so please email, Facebook message or text me for more details. Since I am flying in, I won't have my car while in Michigan. If you are willing to help with transportation after I arrive in Michigan, please let me know, as I will need help getting from one place to another. Of course, I can pay you gas money. I will do my best to see you all. I will be in the Grand Rapids area as well as the Cadillac area.

Can't wait to see you!

August

School starts back up in mid-August. I will be cooking lunch for the kids at the elementary school again for the school year.

Frontier School of the Bible will start back up as well. The sleepy little town of LaGrange will quite possibly double in size once the students arrive.
