Catching Up

Happy Easter! The Lord is risen! We hope you all had a wonderful Good Friday and Resurrection Sunday with family and loved ones remembering what Christ did for us. The past few months have been a little slower paced than what Lucas and I are typically used to. I am now taking one more day off during the week to focus more on contacting churches to visit. It has been exciting to share our plans and what God is calling us to! The young women's leadership program is in full swing, and we are now halfway through! It has been a blessing to hear from the other women in the group as well as do my own studying to prepare for my lesson taught on "Leading with Empathy and Encouragement." Lucas also started a book study on Friday mornings with the young men of the college group on the book Measure of a Man. It has really been a joy to both of us the past few months to get to know even better the young men and women that come to the group. We are also so excited to share that we officially got commissioned by our church, Plano Bible Chapel in the beginning of April!

Pregnancy has also been going well! Aside from a few sleepless nights and a little bit of soreness I really can't complain. Lucas and I are definitely beginning to grow more excited to meet our little baby as the reality of it all begins to sink in more and more. We had the anatomy scan in February and it was so crazy to see the little baby in action! It's been so fun seeing and feeling the movement in my belly become more often and more wild these past few weeks especially. Please be praying for the baby and me in this final trimester as we prepare for delivery! In March, Lucas and I were able to go on a little vacation/babymoon for a few days to take some specific time to rest before the baby gets here. We spent a few nights in Long Beach, CA and then were able to also spend a few nights in Las Vegas with Lucas' sister, Sarah, her husband Jonathan, and their little baby, Paul. It was such a blessing getting to spend time relaxing and catching up with family!

What's Next

The next couple months have a lot in store for us! May brings a family wedding, a baby shower, and the start of our birthing classes that will last eight weeks. While I have already started, we will also be trying to clear out the house, sell furniture, and get rid of most everything we don't plan to take to Peru. I'm hoping to have it all done before the baby comes and before I am too far along to be of much help! June and July will be preparation and arrival of the baby, which I believe we are both greatly looking forward to.

Thank you again, so much for your prayers and support! We greatly appreciate each and every one of you. If you are interested in hearing more please feel free to reach out! We'd love to hear from you guys as well! ## Please be Praying

- for a safe and healthy third trimester and delivery
- for the transition of leadership in the college group that we currently lead at the church
- as we plan and prepare to move to Colorado in August
- that we are able to effectively raise prayer and financial support before we head to Peru in January
